For Young Leaders Program Applicants, of your three letters of recommendation, it is preferred that two should be from people who know you in an academic capacity, and one should be from someone who knows you in a professional capacity. If you are unable to provide a professional reference, a third academic recommendation will suffice.

As part of the on-line application, you will be asked to supply the names and contact information for three evaluators.

Recommendations:
- Must be submitted in PDF format only.
- Written on company, department or university letterhead.
- If letterhead is not available to your recommender, once a recommender uploads their PDF, they must also email it to msredadmissions@mit.edu.

We will not accept more than the three required letters of recommendation. You can request these letters from your recommenders at any time during the application process. We recommend that you do this as early as possible.

Steps:
1. Enter the requested information about your recommenders and save it.
2. Visit “Letter Status” to request letters from your recommenders.
3. Follow the instructions given to send a request to each evaluator. You control when your recommender receives the prompt and are responsible for making sure they have copies of the instructions at the end of this document. You may also track letters by visiting the Letter Status page. If at all possible all recommendations should be completed using the on-line method.

Each of your recommenders will be listed under the on-line letters of recommendation section. Until the status reads “completed” no letters have been submitted. You can also send reminders to your recommenders from this section.

If you choose to change a recommender, simply edit the information in the recommender section to reflect the new name and email, and send a recommendation request through the online system.

Instructions for those preparing letters of recommendation

Thank you for agreeing to write a letter of recommendation for an applicant to the Master of Science in Real Estate Development (MSRED) program at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Admission to the program is highly competitive, and the curriculum rigorous and demanding. The program integrates training in real estate finance, economics, law, development, management, construction, and design. We seek candidates of superior intellect, achievement, and motivation. In our experience, our best students are those who possess keen minds, a savvy understanding of how to get things done, and a healthy appetite for hard work.

In preparing your letter, please indicate how long and in what capacity you have known the applicant. We are especially interested in your candid appraisal of the applicant’s intellectual capabilities, personality, character, management or academic ability, and professional promise. Please feel free to share with us any anecdotes that you believe best illustrate the applicant’s strengths or weaknesses. This helps our Admissions Committee get a better understanding of the applicant’s abilities.

We recognize that writing a good letter can be a difficult task, and we appreciate your time and effort. Once the applicant has completed the recommender section of the graduate application form with the names and email addresses of their chosen recommenders, you will receive an email from MIT Graduate Admissions with instructions on how to fill out the online recommendation form. The online form gives you the option of uploading a letter; please be sure all attachments (PDF format only) are submitted successfully before closing out of the form. Letters should be written on your school, departmental or company letterhead if at all possible. If obtaining letterhead is not possible, please also submit your letter (PDF) to: msredadmissions@mit.edu from your professional email address. You will receive a confirmation message if the submission was successful. If you have any questions or concerns, or technical troubles, please email: msredadmissions@mit.edu

Thank you again for your efforts on behalf of this applicant.
